Silver - Buying Opportunity #1

July 1, 2008 Adam Hamilton (www.zeallc.com):

"As I've been writing for years now, PM stocks are one of the only sectors proven to thrive in bear markets. I'm expecting to see a big PM-stock upleg in autumn regardless of the SPX."

July 3, 2008 James Dines (www.dinesletter.com):

"Our favorite groups for the last seven years remain energy (especially uranium) and metals (especially precious metals, and particularly silver)."

July 6, 2008 David Morgan (www.silver-investor.com):

"As the summer progresses, the information is accelerating at a blistering pace, and most of it is negative for the financial markets. Much commentary is about high food and oil prices, the recession in the U.S. taking hold, housing price weakness, and more banking and investment brokerages problems ahead. The markets are increasingly volatile and the metals look poised for a breakout here."

Dear Friends:

These recent quotes are from technical and fundamental analysts we have read and followed for years. Importantly they agree with us that this fall (autumn) will be a very interesting time in the metals. Yes, as previously stated, we are expecting an aggressive and positive Precious Metals and Uranium market probably starting in July and August (nobody knows the exact bottom) and we have suggested "sharpening your pencils and picking your buying spots". One of the buying spots we would like you to consider is

TUMI RESOURCES LTD.
