Dear Friends:

Mawson continuous to bring first class and highly prolific exploration projects to the table and then prudently farming these projects out to strong, experienced and focused explorers, in order to advance the projects to the benefit of its shareholders.

In the meantime the Company is keeping its eye firmly on the ball and stays focussed on advancing its significant uranium resources in nuclear reliant Europe.

"Mawson is very well placed as a European uranium explorer, with a project portfolio that includes both resources and high merit exploration projects across three countries. Combined with a strong technical team and adequate funding, we look forward to adding further value through discovery and acquisition during 2010."
